Did you know that Acudor has a vast line of City Sidewalk Doors? While we offer a variety of floor doors for different applications, our Acudor city sidewalk doors should not be overlooked. In fact, you have probably come across one of our doors without knowing it. We're here to help you choose the right door and provide education on why they're important. Rest assured that our sidewalk doors are not only safe, but also attractive and durable.

Sidewalk doors are an integral part of a property's maintenance and appearance. They are more commonly seen in cities or anywhere where there is a lot of foot traffic. Small businesses often use them to move merchandise in bulk without disrupting customers and their walking paths. However, one of the common obstacles that business owners face when choosing the right sidewalk door is knowing the right door for them. What material should it be? Are there other features they should be aware of? Is it safe for pedestrians?

Does design matter? Acudor has been manufacturing sidewalk doors for over 30 years and is experienced in knowing what sidewalk doors to offer. Our aluminum sidewalk doors are usually the go-to product. Old steel doors are outdated and unattractive. You often see these rusted doors and avoid walking on them. Acudor has provided these doors for businesses of all types and in cities of all sizes, including Manhattan, Boston, Chicago, and more. If you've seen sleek, aluminum doors throughout the city, don't be surprised if they are Acudor branded!

Here are some of the advantages of a new Acudor aluminum sidewalk door:

- No rusting or leaking
- Avoid safety hazards
